Dear Marde,

Garmin has considered the Coroners Court Recommendations as well as the recommendations of the ATSB. Garmin's position has not changed since we submitted our response to the ATSB, which is attached for your review. Garmin includes the recommended warnings when we perform the certification (e.g., the Garmin G3X system), but we cannot force another aircraft manufacturer (OEM) to include similar language in their AFM or AFMS. Please note that the use of aural alerts has been rejected on numerous occasions by Garmin and other manufacturers for many reasons.

Please let me know of any questions.

Regards,
